NINE TAKEN BEFORE JUDGE THIS MORNING

Eight Charged With Drunkenness and One With Begging—Three Drunks Pay Fines.

The number of prisoners in the Rock County Jail was increased fifty per cent this morning when five of the eight charged with being intoxicated and one beggar were committed there for terms ranging from five to ten days. The other three paid their fines. All who were arraigned pleaded guilty.

George Miller, who was arrested for begging, told the judge that he came here from Duluth, and was on his way to his home in Indiana. He had never been in Jamesville before and when arrested was asking for a little assistance so that he could get breakfast. Miller was crippled and walked with a crutch.

James Higgins, a white-haired and bearded old man, fairly well dressed came to Jamesville by mistake. He declared that his home was in St. Paul and that he had taken the train in Madison; he was drunk when he came here and was put off the train. Higgins was given a five day sentence in default of a fine of $2 and costs.

Fred Sherman, an old offender, was allotted the longest sentence of them all, ten days. Louis Anderson, who was arrested here two years ago, received seven days. Neil Murphy, a sugar candy dealer, got five, and also Joe Anderson, of Rockford. Those who paid fines of $2 and costs were Ed. Johnson of Brookfield, whose sobriety had led him to over-indulge, Ole Steinman, who claimed he had just broken a protracted drought, and John Murray, who declared that he was in court for the first and last time.

Sherman paid his fine later in the day and was released.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF MOVING PICTURES

Little Italian Girl in San Francisco Nearly Burned to Death by Pyromaniacs.

San Francisco, Dec. 22.—After watching a moving picture exhibition in which was depicted an Italian girl being burned at the stake, children in the Latin quarter threw four year old Joanne Alitto into a bonfire. She was so seriously burned that her life was despaired of today.

The little girl was listening to the tale as portrayed by the moving picture film told by companions and when the story reached the point where the victim was tortured she was pushed into the flames. Her screams attracted workmen who extinguished her blazing garments and she was taken to a hospital.

TAKE DEPOSITIONS IN VARDAMAN SUIT

First Evidence in Case of State of Mississippi Versus Ex-Governor Was Taken Today.

Jackson, Miss., Dec. 22.—The taking of depositions in the case of the State of Mississippi against ex-Governor James K. Vardaman was begun today. The purpose of the suit is to compel Mr. Vardaman to account to the state for various funds he is alleged to have misused or misapplied during his term as governor. The funds involved are the executive contingent fund, amounting to over $120,000 during the four years tenure, the Meridian cyclone fund which is alleged to be short about $1,000, the warehouse prosecution fund, the Spanish-American war fund and an alleged unlawful collection of interest on backdated bonds.

It was this suit which occasioned the recent speech in the United States senate of Senator Percy of Mississippi, in which he scathingly denounced ex-Governor Vardaman as an embezzler. After the primaries last fall, in which Mr. Vardaman won the contest to succeed Mr. Percy in the senate, the latter announced that, though his term still has two years to run, he would resign to give immediate force to the popular choice. In his recent speech, however, Mr. Percy announced that, rather than assume the responsibility for admitting to the senate a man so notorious and unworthy as Mr. Vardaman, he would continue to hold his seat until 1913.

Mr. Vardaman has asked for an injunction to prevent the hearing of the suit, which has been set for trial in January. An interesting feature of the litigation is the fact that Attorney General Hudson, who took the initiative in the proceedings against Mr. Vardaman, will retire from office early next month, and there is much speculation as to whether the new attorney-general, Ross A. Collins, who is a close personal and political friend of Mr. Vardaman, will push the case.

ROCK COUNTY CASES TO SUPREME COURT

Appeal From Decision in Two Cases in Rock County Circuit Court Four From Entire Circuit.

Two cases decided in the circuit court for Rock county are on the Supreme court calendar for the January term, 1912. One is the action of Norton vs. Clark et al. which involved a case of fraud between former residents of this city, who were husband and wife in an Illinois town but were later divorced. The decision was given for the former husband in the trial before Judge Grimm and an appeal has been taken by the plaintiff in the law or court.

The other Rock county case is the First National Bank of Edgerton vs. Hildebrand which involves a dispute in regard to payment on a tobacco delivery. There are only two other cases from the twelfth circuit appealed, one a Green Bay county case and the other from Jefferson county court.

The cases are Hildebrand vs. King and Jennings vs. Johnson et al.

There is a large number of cases left over from the old calendar which are to be considered previous to those on the new calendar. The cases in the twelfth circuit are placed on the second section and number 16 to 19 inclusive.

MANY SEEKING RELICS OF ILL FATED MAINE

Persons All Over the Country Want Bits of the Ship Blown up in Havana Harbor in '98.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Sentimentalists and souvenir hunters and representative of patriotic organizations have been pouring requests into the navy department recently for relics from the ill fated battleship Maine. As the department has no authority for disposing of any part of the vessel, of course, all requests have been turned down.

No attempt has yet been made to ascertain just what part of the wreck might be available to be given away although it has been suggested that such articles as the staff, gun mounts, guns, whistles and even the hull would make interesting additions to the headquarters of patriotic organizations or naval museums.

HAS PERSIA DECIDED TO ACCEPT DEMANDS MADE BY RUSSIANS?

New Cabinet Answers Russia's Ultimatum That They Will Agree to Its Conditions.

Tehran, Persia, Dec. 22.—The Persian cabinet has given to the Russian minister verbal assurances of the its intention to comply with the demand of the Russian Ultimatum.

Is Conformed.

London, Dec. 22.—The British foreign office shortly after noon received an official confirmation from the British minister at Tehran that Persia has yielded before the Russian threats and had granted all of the demands made by Russia contained in the Russian ultimatum of the 20th of November.

Schuster to Go.

These included the dismissal of W. Morgan Schuster, the American who has been acting as treasurer general of Persia since June last. Details have not yet reached the British government but it is believed in official circles that Russia's demand that the appointment of foreign advisers to the Persian government would hereafter have to meet with Russian and British approval has been founded with some slight modifications which are agreeable to both parties.

No Public Meetings.

Early this morning official notices were posted on the walls in the city in prominent places ordering the people to abstain from political meetings of any kind without previously obtaining the sanction of the police. It is said that this order was issued by command of the cabinet as the question of the Russian ultimatum was being discussed and was likely to be settled amicably.

RIVER STILL HOLDS BODY DROWNED BOY

Thorough Dragging of River Near Point Where Edward Swanson Disappeared, Fails to Recover His Corpse.

Thorough dragging of the Rock river within a wide radius of the point where Edward Swanson was seen to disappear beneath the surface has thus far failed to recover the body of the drowned boy. Five boats, containing Mr. Swanson, his father, H. Hyzer, Will McVeen, John McGlinchey, John Murphy and other friends of the boy, worked patiently until after six o'clock, dragging almost every foot of the stream in that vicinity. They used grappling hooks, long poles with hooks on the end, and other devices, but all to no avail. One boat, manned by Charles Thompson and an assistant, continued the search after supper for at least two hours, and five boats worked incessantly all this morning but without obtaining any results. It is believed that the powerful current has carried the body some distance down stream and this afternoon he dragging was resumed lower down.

There is some hope of finding it near the railway bridge where the river makes a sharp turn and the current would tend to bring it close upon the outer bank.

The parents and brothers and sisters of Edward are prostrated with grief at his sudden death; their sorrow is made harder to bear by the disappearance of his remains and doubt as to the possibility of their recovery. Edward, who was eleven years of age, leaves to mourn his loss as a brother and playmate, five brothers, George, Henry, Walter, Emil and Harold, and three sisters, Cecelia, Lilian, and Hazel. The clump who were with him when he fell into the river were Joe Costello, Leonard Cavesy and Harold Hagerty.

Edward was a good swimmer but he was handicapped by wearing light leather boots, heavy clothing, the low temperature of the water, and the strong current, otherwise he would have been well able to cure for his safety.

PACKERS' ATTORNEY DECLARES DEFENSE IS FREE OF GUILT

M. W. Borders Representing Morris and Company, Briefly Discusses Case Before Judge Carpenter.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—When the packers' trial was resumed, the defendants' counsel continued the presentation of their opening statement to the jury.

Attorney M. W. Borders, representing the interests of Morris and Company, briefly discussed the case of his clients.

"At the outset I want to declare that our defense will be 'not guilty,'" said Attorney Borders.

"These defendants are charged with making illegal agreements in regard to the necessities of life and I want you to understand the conditions under which they are obliged to operate their business."

"Charges are False."

"They are between two opposing forces—the live stock producer wants higher prices and the consumer wants low prices. No matter what is done there is a hue and cry from either one side or the other."

"I say the charges of the government are false. I say the government will fall in its attempt to prove the guilt of these defendants."

DEALERS PREPARING FOR PACKING SEASON

All Warehouses in City Packing 1911 Crop Will Be Running by First of Year.

Activity in the tobacco lines will be started shortly and immediately after Christmas and New Year's, all the warehouses in the city packing the 1911 crop will open for business. The stripping of the crop is being rushed by the farmers and there are a number of them who are clamoring for dates to deliver.

There has been a small amount of tobacco received by several dealers here but most of the dealers are busy preparing the warehouses for the season and will not begin receiving until after Christmas.

The buying activities are still going on somewhat abated as the territory in Rock county has been very nearly covered. Indications are the crop will be in good shape for handling as the moist weather has kept it in case. As for value and weight the crop is also up to expectations of both grower and dealer.

LOOT CASH DRAWER OF BRUMMOND SALOON

Fifteen Dollars and Bottle of Whiskey Stolen From South River Street Barroom Last Night.

Robbery gained entrance to the saloon of Louis Brummond on South River street some time after the place was closed for business last night and looted the cash drawer of fifteen dollars in cash, besides taking with them a bottle of whiskey.

The burglary was discovered by the bartender when he opened the barroom at six o'clock this morning. On entering the front door which was locked, he discovered that the three drawers in the bar had all been pulled out. The back door stood ajar, showing that the thieves had gone out that way. There was nothing to indicate that the door had been forced.

These circumstances and the precautions which were taken when the saloon was locked at eleven o'clock last night lead the proprietor to believe that the thief came in through the transom over the front door. The transom was closed so tight that it would take considerable force to open it. The heavy wooden bar had been placed across the back door and braced from below by another and also a wedge. This morning all three pieces were found neatly stacked against the wall. The premises had been inspected before the barroom was locked, the examination even extending to the icebox.

If the thief entered by way of the transom it is certain that he had an accomplice, who either provided him with a ladder which was afterward carried away, or permitted him to climb in by standing on his shoulders.

This is the fifth saloon robbery which has taken place in Jamesville inside of three months, and it seems probable that the other robberies have been accomplished by one and the same gang, the methods being the same in nearly every instance.

PATHEPIC PLEA OF MOTHER FOR LOST HEIRESS.

Chicago, Ill.—All traces of the missing heiress, Miss Violet Buchler, missing now since November 25th is lost and hope is being despaired of of ever seeing the girl alive even among the closest friends and relatives.

An unusually pathetic incident was brought into the tragedy when Miss Mrs. Anna Buchler handed a letter addressed to her little sixteen year old daughter to a reporter asking that it be printed in the hope that the missing girl may see it and make an effort to respond. It pleaded for the little girl to come back and enjoy the Yule-Tide at the home friends and told of the many beautiful Christmas presents which awaited her return.

Mrs. Buchler is sure that Violet was kidnapped. Every possible clue is being investigated to locate the girl.

WINTER OFFICIALLY USHERED IN TODAY

Reached Janesville on Scheduled Time at 4:55 p.m.—No change in Temperature.

If you feel a trifle colder this evening than you did last night you must remember that officially Thursday evening was the end of the autumn season and today is the first day of winter. To be more exact the winter season began at fifty-three minutes and twenty-four seconds past four this afternoon and the grim old Ice King entered into his realm on time.

The southwest and northwest portion of the United States have been preparing to give winter a welcome and in some parts of Wisconsin snow and blizzard conditions exist but Janesville is bare of any pretense at winter and out of doors construction work goes merrily on. In fact, the weather sharks state that they see no immediate change in the temperature.

Mercury is the evening star for December on Sunday night the planet passes through the inferior conjunction and is seen in the western skies. Saturn and Mars are also a pair of brilliant planets in the morning stars. The other principal fixed evening stars are as follows: to the west Vega, Altair and Procyon; to the east, Capella, Castor and Pollux, Aldebaran and the Pleiades, Sirius, Procyon and the bright stars of the constellation Orion are also seen.

But to return to winter. The sun has now entered Capricornus and we may expect snow and cold weather until the Ice King's rule is ended by the advent of spring. As all signs fall in dry weather so do all calculations count for nothing. Weather prophets have been forecasting a white Christmas and here with Christmas but a day or two away we are told there is no snow in sight.

CITIZENS URGED TO AID LAST TAG DAY

Twenty Young Women Will Aid In The Final Round Up of the Christmas Sale.

When you go down town tomorrow afternoon to see and be prepared to purchase at least ten cents worth of Christmas stamps from the young ladies who are making the last attempt to bring the total sale of stamps in Janesville this year up to at least six hundred and fifty or seven hundred dollars.

Miss Vlynn who has had charge of this year's sale, has worked most diligently to make the affair a success and deserves much credit for the results accomplished. She has toiled early and late and the surprising sale of some $535 worth up to date is recorded. This exceeds last year's total figures.

The sale tomorrow is the last effort to put Janesville into the ranks of cities that are making grand efforts to supply the shelves of war for the great state anti-tuberculosis campaign. The school children have done remarkably well in their sale and the twenty young ladies who tomorrow's sale, hope to turn in at least a hundred dollars to the general fund.

Persons who desire to know more about the work can find the copies of the "Granade," the magazine of the state anti-tuberculosis association on the city library, the last two numbers being exceptionally interesting. Turn out and help the work along by purchasing at least ten cents' worth of stamps tomorrow afternoon.

ASTHMA ATTACKS QUICKLY STOPPED

CHRONIC AILMENT OF EIGHT YEARS CURED BY UNITED DOCTORS IN TEN WEEKS.

FORMERLY COUGHED CON-STANTLY.

RECURRING ATTACKS KEPT
MRS. FARREL EVEN FROM GETTING SLEEP.

There are many sufferers of that terrible disease called asthma throughout this world. Mrs. J. W. Farrel, of 1010 West Bridge Street, Streator, Illinois, is but one of them and her experience in seeking a cure tells a story often repeated of the wonderful cures accomplished by the UNITED DOCTORS, who have their Janesville Institute in the Hayes Building, corner of Milwaukee and Main Street. Mrs. Farrel's statement is as follows:

"Dear Doctors and the Public:
"I have been a great sufferer from asthma for the last eight years and have been in misery all of the time. I have had attack after attack and found no relief from this condition all this time, although I doctored with several local doctors and, also with doctors out of town. I was in such bad shape that I could not go out nights for the night air caused me more than ever to suffer. Seldom could I sleep for night seemed to make my condition such that I lay awake most of the time.

"Ten weeks ago I went to the UNITED DOCTORS after having heard of their cures, and placed my case in their hands. Mine was a chronic case of eight years standing and yet since I started the UNITED DOCTORS' treatment I have had only one attack and feel fine. No one but a sufferer from asthma can fully realize what this means. Before I had attacks every night and since then have had only one attack.

"I am stating this publicly so those with asthma can know where to go for a cure after they have treated with others and failed of relief.

"Sincerely,
"Mrs. J. W. Farrel,
"Streator, Ill."

The UNITED DOCTORS treat among other diseases and ailments chronic and deep-seated diseases of the blood, nerves, kidneys, bladder, liver, heart, skin, spine, stomach, rheumatism, neuritis, blood poison, eczema, scrofula, indigestion and dyspepsia.

The grand offer of free treatment to all accepted for treatment before January 5th, will not be extended as after that date full fees will be charged to all new patients.

GOOD BOXING CARD FOR MADISON FANS

Christie and Zander Will Have Ten
Round Bout at Turner Hall
Next Wednesday Night.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 22.—A ten round bout between Gus Christie of Milwaukee and Ernie Zander of Chicago, two prominent welterweights, will be the feature event of a strong boxing card to be presented at the Turner hall here, Wednesday night, Dec. 27. Despite Christie's splendid record, including a clean cut victory over the much heralded Knockout Brown of Chicago, Zander had the shade of the Milwaukee boy in their first match here, and there is much interest in the return date for this pair.

Young McGinn of Madison will meet Kid Towers of Superior eight rounds in the semi-windup event. McGinn has won from every opponent he has faced in the last three years and if he scores a victory over Towers he will be in line for matches with the best boys in the country at his weight, 128 pounds.

The opening six round bout will be between Frank Viscand, who recently came here from the coast, where he made a good record, and Gene Gannon of Milwaukee, a clever youngster with a good wallop.

This card is considered the best ever offered by the Madison Athletic club, one of the strongest organizations in the state. The early interest is good and the club looks for a big house.

McGinn and Viscand are under the management of Leo Bernstein, former trainer at the University of Wisconsin. Bernstein, who was a well known fighter himself a few years ago, says that both of his proteges have a bright future in the boxing game.

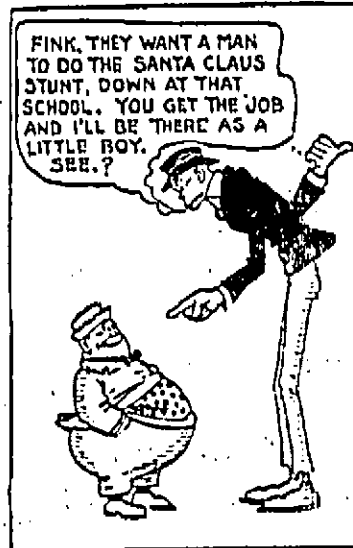

BOWLING SERIES IS CLOSED BY BANQUET

Janesville League To Formally End
1911 Season Tonight With Repast at Caledonian Rooms.

Tonight at the Caledonian rooms, members of the Janesville Bowling League will give a banquet, which will mark the formal close of the 1911 series of games between its teams. At this time will be given out the different prizes and prizes won by the different teams and champion players. Each member of the Cardinal team, the 1911 victors, is to receive a photograph of the team and a box of cigars, and every player in the Grays, who won second place in the series, will be given a box of cigars. Sutherland, the bowler with the highest score, 231, has also a box of cigars coming, as has O'Donnell, who took second place with a score of 224 points.

Organization for the 1912 series of games will be perfected and plans made for the season. All of the forty members are expected to be present.

Body Found This Morning Near Spring Brook Crossing, Shortly Before Seven O'Clock.

Workmen going to their daily labor shortly before seven o'clock this morning, discovered the corpse of Nicholas Johnson lying beside the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul tracks, forty rods from the signal tower at the McKoy boulevard crossing. From the position of the body and the wounds, it is apparent that he was struck by a train sometime last evening and instantly killed, his body lying where it fell, until discovered this morning.

The police were immediately notified and the corpse was removed to Ryan's undertaking rooms where it was identified by Mrs. Johnson shortly after eight o'clock. Johnson was last seen alive shortly after seven o'clock last night by Rudolph Lustig, going towards his home on Center avenue, and it is thought he was struck by the train shortly afterwards.

Johnson was slightly deaf and added to that is the fact that he had been enjoying a pre-Christmas celebration yesterday, which, perhaps, accounts for the fact that he did not fear the approaching train. From his injuries it is thought he was instantly killed as he had no more any outcry he would have been heard by persons who were in the vicinity later in the evening.

When Johnson did not reach home last evening from his work in the Rock County Sugar Company's plant, his wife telephoned the police and factory seeking to locate him. He leaves a wife and seven children to mourn his loss the family residing at 714 Center avenue.

District Attorney Danewiddle was notified of the finding of the body but the case was so clearly one of accidental death due to his being struck by a train no inquest will be held. The body, when found, was lying close by the tracks and but slightly mutilated. The deceased was a member of the Mystic Workers lodge, residents from that organization leading to the first identification of the remains.

SECOND ARTICLE ON PAPER BAG COOKERY

FEATURE EDITOR HAS NEW
HINTS FOR THE AVERAGE
HOUSEWIFE.

SUGGESTIONS MADE

As to How to Prepare the Food And Care for the Oven And Bags
When in Use.

In the second article on paper bag cookery, the Feature Editor desires to call attention to the fact that the following suggestions as to the best methods of paper-bag cookery have been the result of careful observation and experiment by some of the best cooks in the country. Paper bag cookery is, as yet, in its infancy. It is not a fad to be tried and cast aside, but may eventually solve the problem of housework for the flat dweller and busy housewife.

Some general instructions will not be amiss at this time. The suggestions made are all practical and not experiments and can be safely followed by those who are using the paper bags for the first time. Several Janesville ladies have used the bags most successfully and the Feature Editor would be glad to hear from them as to their own personal experience.

Paper bag cookery is done in the oven. Gas fire, electric stoves, or oil stoves, are all equally efficacious, but the time varies and must be learned by experience. A wire grid must always be used in the oven under the bag; in order that the heat may circulate. Each bag must be well inspected, before using, to make sure that there are no holes. Use a light brush to paint the interior of the bag with drawn butter before placing the food inside. Drippings or good olive oil may also be used.

The heat of the oven should be at first be about 300 degrees Fahrenheit. If there is not an oven thermometer attached, use the ordinary white paper test, and if it turns brown at once, the oven is right. With a gas fire take out the grid and turn the gas on full for eight minutes before using the oven. Leave it three parts on for five minutes after putting the dish in the oven, then turn the gas half down during the rest of the cooking. This will reduce the heat to about 200 degrees, which is the proper temperature for paper bag cookery, on the average.

Several dishes can be cooked at the same time in separate bags. The bags retain everything, and there is no possibility of flavors intermingling. Breads cannot be used twice, for after being in the oven they crumble and taste very easily. In cases where a brown surface is required, such as chicken, duck and similar meats, break open the top of the paper bag or prick it with a wooden skewer about ten or fifteen minutes before taking it out of the oven. It is also advisable when cooking poultry to prick the top of the bag. This will help to give the food a delicate golden brown.

Always slide the bag and its contents on a hot dish, then slit the bag with a pair of clean scissors. Do not, especially for the purpose, and draw away the paper carefully. To avoid any possible leakage, close the bag by folding down the top (the open end), fold over three times, fasten with a clip and turn up the bottom corners of the bag. Keep the bags well away from the gas jet; otherwise they are apt to scorch and burn.

Although the bags are water proof, they will hold only a small quantity of liquid safely.

In order to prevent any possibility of the bag breaking or bursting, either before or after being placed in the oven, the following hints should be observed:

Select the size bag that will conveniently hold the food intended to be cooked in it. Examine carefully to see if there is the slightest rent or break. If so, make over with the weight of an egg, or a paste made with flour and water. The least hole in the bag is certain to increase in size when placed in a heated atmosphere, thus causing a loss of gravy or juice from food.

Cut, saw or trim off all projecting sharp bones, fins or protruding edges from food that are likely to tear the paper, before placing it in the bag. Without this precaution, meat or poultry is likely to cause incisions in the bag, perhaps unknown to the cook.

After greasing the bag, and when the food necessary for the dish has been inserted, fold the open end several times, and fasten with one or more paper wire clips, or with small, thin wooden skewers, so as to seal hermetically the bag. It is a good plan to fold in also the corners at the bottom of the bag to insure against leakage.

The bag, when filled with the food and ready for cooking, must be placed in the oven or on a so-called grid shelf, such as is usually provided in gas cooking stoves.

After the first fifteen or twenty minutes—that is, when the cooking has sufficiently advanced—the heat of the oven must be slightly reduced until the food is quite cooked and tender.

For flat fish allow from ten to fifteen minutes to the pound, for it to be tender and fit to serve. Small fillets need only eight to ten minutes, while practically all roast meats require twenty to twenty-five minutes to the pound. Stews will take forty-five to sixty minutes; chicken and duck thirty-five to forty minutes; but small birds should cook only fifteen to twenty minutes. Sauces, ham, liver and bacon and kidney need but eight to ten minutes.

Vegetables, stews and vegetables must be cooked from twenty-five to thirty minutes. Finally, all sweets, including pastry, pies and puddings, require from fifteen to twenty minutes. When cooking milk puddings in paper bags, the pudding must be made in the ordinary way, in a shallow pie dish. This is then slipped in, and the bag is folded and fastened as usual.

If the bags are put on a hot baking sheet, the cooking will be a failure, because it is necessary for the heat to circulate and completely surround the food, for the bags will burst as soon as they are laid on a hot, solid surface. In a gas oven it must be remembered that the lower grid must not be put in the lowest groove or the bags will catch fire from being too near the flame. The top grid should be put in the groove nearest the top of the oven, if that will allow the bag to lie evenly on it, and the second grid as near the first as may be convenient. Sometimes, when people are living in apartments, there is a supply of gas, but no cooker. In such cases it would be easy to buy a gas ring and tubing and attach it to a gas jet. Over the ring a tin oven should be placed, and it will be found that a paper bag dinner can then be prepared most successfully.

At the end of the specified time a peep into the oven will reveal the array of paper bags probably well browned, but not burned. If there has been the slightest smell of burning paper it should at once be investigated and the gas reduced. After removing the food from the oven a pair of scissors should be at hand to slit open the bag, which must then be destroyed, leaving the nicely browned, perfectly cooked viand on the dish. There will be very little gravy, as that, of course, is the juice of the meat, and the eating of the paper bag cookery is that it seals up the juices WITHIN the meat.

On no account add water to the few spoonfuls of rich, strong gravy in the dish, for this would completely spoil the delicious flavor. In families where much gravy is desired, it must be made separately with a little stock, baked and thickened. The potatoes can then be turned out of the paper bag into a hot dish, and the same process can be followed with the other vegetables. Cauliflower requires gentler handling. Its bag should be slit and it should be slid carefully into a dish filled with white, hot sauce ready prepared. The pudding may be left in the oven, gas turned very low, so that it may keep hot, but not cook any longer, until it is required. Thus, an entire meal, with the exception of the soup, is cooked and ready to serve through the paper bag system.

The most distinctive of American culinary processes, the clam bake, or fish bake, has long utilized the paper bag in the production of some of its most delectable courses. It may be a fish or a mackerel, and then carefully cleaned and salted, and then carefully wrapped in thick muslin paper, or Frankfurt sausages may be treated in the same way. Dozens of these rolls are placed on the hot rock where the bake fire has been started and then covered with seaweed. At the right moment they are carried to the table and each diner is served with delicious, steaming hot fish or sausage, dropped onto his plate from the paper. If this process none of the flavor is lost from the fish or sausage. The paper becomes filled with the fish and its pores practically filled, so that no steam escapes through them. The fish is thus peculiarly tender and tasty.

In general, it may be stated, that there are less dangers to be avoided in paper bag cookery than in any other method. Here it is not necessary to open the oven door every once in a while to baste the food or to see how the cooking is progressing. The oven can be relied upon to do its work thoroughly, as the whole force of the heat surrounds the bag and cooks the food to a turn, but the oven must always be opened cautiously, as a draught from a door or window may easily ignite the bag from the gas burner and thus destroy the food if not removed instantly and placed in a new bag. In removing the bag from the oven, a plate should be placed gently underneath and the bag withdrawn to the plate with the fingers; cut open and thrown away at once.

Washington, D. C.—Mrs. Robert M. La Follette, the well known writer and potential candidate for the honor of mistress of the White House has become interested in the various debates over the country as to the selection of the world's 20 greatest women, living or dead. Her selection is based upon a wide experience and upon the intimate study of history, particularly as it pertains to the activities of women. The list she submits is as follows: Jane Adams, George Sand, Rosa Bonheur, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Florence Nightingale, Isabella of Spain, Elizabeth B. Browning, Harriet Martineau, Nancy Hunt, Helene Modjeska, George Eliot, Ellen Terry, Susan B. Anthony, Olive Schreiner, Mme. world made comment, but little was said as to the actual importance of this move. It has just come to light that while Morgan stands high in the estimation of the Emperor it was upon the advice of Germany's financial advisers that this plan was suggested. The secret came out when it was found that during the recent Moroccan crises, American financiers financed Germany to the extent of many millions. The money was furnished both to the Prussian government and to the German banks, the government transactions alone involving the sum of $20,000,000. The greatest banks in Germany figure among the borrowers.

Giving Ex-Convicts a Chance.

Members of the state board of pardons have been concerned for some time over the same problem that has bothered the prison association for convicts after they are released from the state penitentiary. Only a few days ago a young man who had made his "good time" and had obtained an extra commutation in his sentence by reason of good behavior and a desire to become a useful citizen and had settled down to an honest life with his mother in this city, was ordered to move just as soon as his landlord learned something about his history. He wasn't behind in his rent and ought to prove a good tenant, but the landlord wouldn't even consider giving him a fair chance.—Nebraska State Journal.

Hired Gift the Victor.

Mrs. John Martin of Flatbush, N. Y., hurried into the Flatbush police station one day, and asked that a policeman be sent to arrest her home Kate Garretty, a servant. "I have paid her off, but she refuses to leave the house," panted Mrs. Martin. "She is in a terrible rage." A patrolman accompanied Mrs. Martin to the house and told the girl to go away. "Not until then things of mine is dry, if I have to stay here till doomsday," replied Kate. On a clothesline in the rear the patrolman saw a quantity of wearing apparel. Then he understood why Kate refused to go. He sat down on the steps and waited. Four hours later Kate's washing was dry. She took it down, and escorted by a patrolman, departed.

HORTI- CULTURAL NOTES

Apples should be carefully assorted. Grapes have been much neglected of late years.

The foolish man plants his orchard on low ground and the wise man seeks the hills.

Nothing grown on the farm pays better for the care bestowed upon it than the orchard.

Apples, pears, peaches, plums and cherries should be grown on every farm, large or small.

Do not place your fruit in competition with another by dividing shipments in any market.

The strawberry, like the cranberry and blueberry, prefers a sour soil and will do best in such a soil.

There are three processes of pruning a young apple tree; the formative, the corrective and the corrective.

When a crop on a tree is too large for normal maturity, thinning is of value and should always be given.

Whenever a large limb is saved from the tree the wound should be at once covered with wax or thick paint.

As a rule sheep do no harm to the old orchard, but they should not be allowed to have access to the young trees.

We never could see the wisdom of allowing the hogs to run in the orchard unless it is in cow peas or clover pasture.

Never ship fruit to a market that is overstocked and weak. Your commission merchant will send you daily quotations on a postal card.

PRACTICE OF HEAVY PRUNING

Much Theorizing Has Been Done on This Subject, but Little Knowledge Has Been Acquired.

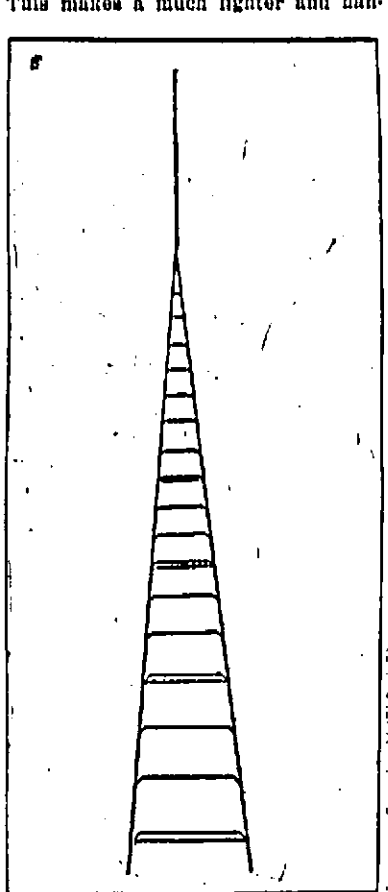

Much theorizing has been done on pruning, but comparatively little accurate knowledge has yet been acquired regarding the relative merit of the easy-going methods practiced with the so-called "natural" form of top and the more careful and heavier cutting followed in the bush form and other repressive systems as practiced on the Pacific coast.

Many of the eastern orchardists have looked upon heavy pruning as close akin to murder, and we have as a result a large proportion of legacy and awkward trees in most of the older apple orchards, the bearing wood on which is high in the air and inaccessible both at spraying time and time of harvest, says a writer in an exchange. Such trees require close heading back, and sometimes even need to be "dehorned." Such heading back, which should preferably be done in the spring just before growth starts, need not be done in a single year, but whether done in one year or gradually through a series of years, it should not stop short of bringing the remodeled framework of the tree within convenient reach of the spray nozzle and the light picking ladder.

LIGHT LADDER FOR ORCHARD

Can Be Made of White Pine and When Placed in Fork of Limb There Is No Danger of Slipping.

The illustration is of a safety ladder for the benefit of fruit growers. Take 1 1/2 x 3-inch white pine clear of flaws for sides, and 1 x 3 for steps, as they are better to stand on than rounds; nail blocks for them to rest on, and to keep it from spreading put a small rod under every third step, or wire will do; double and twist it. Take a solid piece four feet long for the "snout;" bolt this with two 1/2-inch bolts, with wedges to make it solid. This makes a much lighter and handdier ladder than the old straight one. Put the snout in the fork of a limb and there is no slipping or turning, nor knocking the fruit off. Use different lengths to suit the tree.

A Light Fruit Ladder.

Two Sides to a Crime.

It is all part of our tendency to be kind and considerate to lawbreakers; to think of the family of the man who has killed somebody instead of considering the family of his victim; to lay stress on the devotion of the relatives of the man who has looted a bank, rather than to take into account the broken depositors and their sharp sufferings. Hence the general approval of the fantastic extension of the pardon power, which meets with no real, sane disapproval.—New York Evening Sun.

What Standard Are You Setting?

SHE was a waitress in a restaurant, and as she placed upon the table the coffee and rolls and salad, and fussed about to see that everything was as it should be, she told the sympathetic customer how hard she worked.

"I am on here until after six," she said, "and then at nine, I go on at Blank's," mentioning a restaurant that catered to an evening trade. "And I stay on there until after midnight."

The customer was somewhat appalled at this strenuous life, but consoled herself with the thought that perhaps the girl was trying to earn money for an education or something of that sort. But she was to be further enlightened, for the girl concluded in a matter-of-fact tone, "You have to dress, you know."

And so all this hard work, for it was undeniable that the girl worked hard, was for dress. All her money went for imitation fur coats, and curse lace and cheap willow plumes, and other finery as near to the real thing as she could afford.

She was following standards of dress set by others.

Half the world, perhaps more than half, follows standards set by others. Those who do this have neither the initiative nor the ability to set standards for themselves. So those who set standards should recognize their responsibility. Some one has set a standard of dress which this girl, sheep-like is following, and by thus following, is giving her life for that which is not. She is not aware of this. She only dimly realizes that she works very hard for what seems to her a necessity. She may wish, sometimes, that things were different. But she is not of the kind to make them different.

So those of us who have it within our power to make things different, who in a word, set standards for such as these, should think a little as to the standards we set, and what they will mean in the lives of those who follow them. And, though we do not realize it, almost every one of us is setting standards for somebody. We set standards for our children, or for our younger brothers and sisters, standards of patience and gentleness and consideration, or of impatience, rudeness and selfishness. We are setting standards perhaps for the maid in the kitchen, standards of kindness and thoughtfulness and sympathy, which may affect her whole life. For if she dwells in such an atmosphere, she will in time reflect it, and life will be the happier because she is living on its bright side and not on its dark side.

It will be contended that every one should set his own standards, and so perhaps he should. But this does not alter the fact that the world is full of those who follow. And this being the case, if any one is following us, we should give them something worth following. And since we do not know for whom we may be, all unconsciously, setting standards, we should look to ourselves and see just what standards we are giving to the world. Do we stand for extravagant or foolish dressing? Are we dressing more richly, more luxuriously, than there is any need for, in a word dressing to show? That is exactly what this waitress was doing, although she was on a vastly different plane from those who had set the pace? But in the essence of what they both were doing, she and the woman who was slavish, copying were one.

Are we setting a standard of ostentatious entertaining? If we are, we may be sure some little woman of limited means is passing sleepless nights trying to devise some affair that will be elaborate and unique and no plunge her into debt, or else is worrying over the debt she has accrued in entertaining more elaborately than she can afford.

Are we setting standards of courtesy and thoroughness and reliability in our work? Some little office boy or girl is taking his cue from us as we will go forward, ambitious to do good work, or craftily planning to all through an office, because of the standards we have upheld.

What standards are we setting in regard to this Christmas gift giving? Are we giving more than we can afford? Are we giving many gifts in the spirit of exchange? Or are we actuated in every remembrance we send to the true spirit of the season? Rest assured, some one is noting the standard we are setting, and is following us for good or evil upon his own life.

For we never know just what effects the standards we set may have, nor just how far reaching they may be. But we can see that we uphold those whose influence is for good. And thus we can do our share toward making this old world better, no matter how insignificant the station we may occupy in it.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

Cakes Made With Butter Keep Well,
Walnut and Currant Loaves.

By Alice E. Whitaker.

Loaf cakes are divided into two classes known as pound, fruit, cup and velvet, for instance, and those made without shortening but very light with eggs like sponge, sunshine and angel cakes.

The buttercakes keep moist some time and are always selected when the cake is not to be out for several days. Such a cake must be of fine texture and to secure this means more dependence on eggs for leavening than upon baking powder which gives a coarse grain and quickly drying cake if it is not used sparingly.

A famous cake maker says: "Always buy the best of everything and never waste a crumb or anything." Surely cooking butter and storage eggs never made a first class cake for no skill in handling, nor added flavoring will disguise such materials.

The good cake maker never omits creaming the butter before adding the sugar because in this way she gets a smooth batter that is impossible when cold butter and the sugar are dumped into the mixing bowl together. Neither does she melt the butter and expect velvety crumb to her cake.

It is true that some fairly good cake is made every day by putting all the materials into the bowl and beating long and hard. But this sort of cake is to be eaten fresh; no long keeping cake was ever made that way.

First of all learn to emulate the druggist in exactness of measure. Many cakes are spoiled after being put together carefully because an extra tablespoon of flour or milk is added lest the batter be too thin or thick. Trust your recipe if it comes from good authority.

Every housekeeper has her own collection of favorite recipes but she is not averse to adding more if they are accurate. The following are vouched for: For a currant cake baked in a sheet in a shallow pan cream one-half cup of butter in a bowl, add one cup of sugar, and beat well then add two whole eggs and the yolk of one egg all beaten together. Have two cups of pastry flour with two level teaspoons of baking powder and add to the first ingredients. Alternate with one-half cup of milk. When well beaten together add one cup of currants rolled in enough flour to coat them well. When the cake is taken out of the oven dust powdered sugar over the top.

To make a small inexpensive cake cream one-quarter cup of butter, add one cup of sugar and beat then three-quarters cup of milk alternately with two cups of flour sifted twice with two level teaspoons of baking powder. Add just the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs and three-quarters cup of nut meats chopped.

Nut cakes are favorites among the loaf cakes and here is another that can be vouched for: Cream one-half cup of butter, add one cup of sugar and beat then the yolk of three eggs and the whites of two, beaten together until very light. Sift one cup of flour with one and one-half level teaspoons of baking powder twice, add to the first mixture alternately with one-half cup of milk. When well beaten add three-quarters cup of nuts broken fine. Bake in a loaf about forty-five minutes.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

GENERAL WASHINGTON'S LIFE GUARD.

By A. W. MACY.
General Washington's Life Guard was organized in the spring of 1770 and served until the close of the Revolutionary war. Its number varied at different times, from 60 to 250 men. They were soldiers in the regular service, chosen from the various regiments, and it was their special duty to protect the person, baggage and papers of the chief. They were selected with special reference to their fitness for such work, physically and mentally, and, of course, absolute loyalty to the American cause was a prime requisite. At one time, when the army was stationed at New York, the Tories formed a plot to capture General Washington and deliver him to one of the British armed ships in the harbor. They succeeded in bribing one of the Life Guards to assist them, but fortunately the plot was discovered and the traitorous guard was hanged. The last survivor of the Life Guard was Uzal Knapp of Orange county, New York. He died in 1850, and in 1880 a monument was erected over his grave, at the foot of the flag staff in front of Washington's headquarters at Newburgh on the Hudson.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THE day before Christmas is quite often a trying day. Here is a suggestion for keeping the little folks out from underfoot while you do some of the ten thousand one last things.

Let them have a Christmas tree for the birds. Give them some scraps of bread, crackers or stale cake, a handful of rice or other cereal, two or three apples and some scraps of worsted or ribbon or colored twine, and let them trim up some small tree in the garden for the birds.

Unless you have tried this before, you would scarcely believe how much interest and amusement the little ones can get out of trimming the tree, tying on the apples and bits of bread and cake, and scattering the cereal at the foot, and then standing back and watching the birds come and eat their Christmas feast.

Besides which, it is a rather pretty custom, don't you think?

Do the little ones in your family know what Christmas means? Do they connect anything besides Santa Claus, stockings, chimneys, presents and a big dinner with the twenty-fifth of December?

There are people who want to entirely get rid of Santa Claus, because they think he heathenizes Christmas. I wouldn't banish the dear old Saint for anything, but I certainly wouldn't let him obscure the One whose day Christmas really is.

It seems to me that, no matter how busy she is, every mother should take time Christmas Eve for the telling of the Old, Old Story to the babies. When she has tucked the little ones in bed, is the time to tell them about that other baby who had no soft white pillow on which to lay his head, and no cunning little crib to sleep in, but was born in a stable and laid to sleep in a manger.

Let her take down the Book of Books and read that wonderful story through to herself once more in Matthew or Luke, and then let her use her utmost skill as mother-story-teller to make this sweetest of all stories ring sweet and real to childish ears.

No matter how laboriously she may have worked to delight her children with gifts—no matter how well stocked for the Christmas junkies herarder may be—think that mother has failed in her Christmas duties who has not found time Christmas Eve to tell the Bethlehem story to her babies.

Of course, the babies are not the only ones who need to be reminded of the meaning of Christmas. Either Christmas Eve or Christmas morning, I think that in every home the story of the birth of Christ should be read from one of the Gospels, preferably Luke.

Another pretty custom which obtains in several homes I know of, is the reading of selections from Dickens' Christmas Carol on Christmas Eve. In one home where the mother is a fine reader, several families from the neighborhood gather each year on Christmas Eve to hear Dickens' immortal Christmas story read aloud before the open fire.

Old folks usually love their home quite dearly enough, without any stimulus, but it is sweet customs like these which are needed to deepen and strengthen the love of home in the restless young hearts.

Do not say that you cannot spare the time for any such unnecessary thing at this busiest of seasons.

You cannot afford not to spare it.

PRICE OF FOOD.

OFT of the widespread agitation of high price of food, must come some equitable adjustment. It may be government control of prices or the elimination of middlemen, or the assumption by public authorities of the middlemen's function, or these different ways may be adapted to meet varying conditions. Many interesting experiments are being made in our own country and in Europe.

The Producers and Consumers' National League stands for the establishment of municipal markets where the farmer may sell his product direct to the consumer. A similar movement in its purpose is that of the farmers of Pennsylvania, who have organized a market association to retail their products. The managers estimate that by eliminating the middlemen's profits they can reduce prices forty per cent. They are following in the footsteps of the Denmark farmers, nearly all of whose products are marketed through co-operative associations to the advantage of both producer and consumer.

In some of our cities mayors are taking the initiative. In Indianapolis Mayor Shunk bought carloads of potatoes which were sold without profit to the people, and this has been followed by pears and poultry. The Mayor of Des Moines is pursuing similar course. In Milwaukee Mayor Seldel appointed a market commission to interest people in a model municipal market at the Budget Exhibit.

In France, Germany, Austria, where the situation has become acute and food riots have been precipitated, the freight rates on government owned roads have been reduced on breadstuffs, and other means employed to distribute food at low prices. A bill was recently introduced into the French Parliament authorizing municipalities to establish stores for the sale of the necessities of life.

Because women do so much of the buying, it makes great difference in the solution of these economic questions whether women are interested and understand; whether women are standard or progressive.

The Kitchen Cabinet

WHEN you get in a tight place and everything goes against you, till it seems as if you could not hold on a minute longer, never give up then, for that's just the place and time the tide'll turn.

—Harriet Beecher-Stowe.

HINTS ON TABLE SETTING.

The old line, "Order is heaven's first law," are never more appropriate than when used in reference to table arrangement. Exact military precision is the first requirement after neatness.

Place the silver cloth, if you possess one, with the nap up, and draw it straight and even. A very good silver cloth may be made from a smoothly woven bed spread that has outlived its usefulness.

Lay the ironed tablecloth with the middle fold in the center of the table. See that the ends and corners are even.

Place every dish and piece of silver in soldier-like order. Turn no dishes upside down. Care in setting a table contributes much to the comfort of the family.

In serving anything that is passed by the waiter, it should be set down at the right of the person served. When removing plates or brushing crumbs it should be done from the left.

When passing food to each person it should be passed on his left, so that the right hand may be free to accept the food.

When removing dishes of a course dinner, all dishes from each place should be taken first, then the meat and vegetable dishes.

Food and dishes are removed from the left.

A waitress should never pile her tray with dishes; one service is sufficient to remove at one time.

Plain white dishes are always gentle, and if one is broken can be easily replaced.

BEWARE SPOILED EGGS IN BAKERS' DELICACIES.

An investigation recently made in Philadelphia proved that spoiled eggs are largely used in making custard pies. Rotten eggs are extensively used in many cities by bakers in making cake and other delicacies. Even if eggs are not spoiled they should not be indiscriminately mixed with other foods nor subjected to high temperature. The temptation to use inferior materials in the preparation of foods is great and it is advisable to be cautious in the selection of prepared food of any kind.

TOMORROW THE LAST DAY OF THE GAZETTE PRIZE CAMPAIGN

All Candidates Are Busy Gathering In The Promised Subscriptions—Final Efforts Are Now On

ENTHUSIASM AT WHITE HEAT

WARNING—GET YOUR VOTES AND SUBSCRIPTIONS IN EARLY

The unusual amount of interest and enthusiasm manifested during the past week in behalf of this great prize campaign proves that the judges of this state are quick to appreciate a good effort and are putting forth every effort to win one of these elegant prizes offered.

It will be all over tomorrow night at 8 o'clock except the shouting. That can't come until the last vote is recorded, for then only can a decision be reached. There is nothing that will do the shouting. The campaign department doesn't know, neither does anyone else. Rumors of what such a candidate has, in the way of votes may be current, but they should be treated as rumors. A candidate may know what she has, but it is very certain that what anyone else has, remains a mystery.

Don't Be Late. All subscriptions must reach the campaign department in time for the ballots to be made out before 8 p. m. Saturday, December 23, to be counted for votes. We cordially invite all candidates to be present at the canvassing of the votes by the committee of judges, which will start promptly at 8 p. m. We ardently hope that there may be but few disappointments among them. With the fine prizes to be awarded, there seems little room for disappointment, and we are sure that all who have worked well will receive a generous reward, as even the 5 per cent commissions are worth while.

Nobody wants to be a good loser, unless she finds it impossible to be a winner. Therefore, don't waste a minute thinking what you would do should you lose, but take every precaution to ensure yourself a place among the winners. To do this you must get every subscription in sight. Remember, the automobile may be won by the margin of votes given by a two-year subscription. So the one you neglect to get may be the one you need.

Please Come Early. Votes and subscriptions will be received in the campaign department until 8 p. m., but it must be borne in mind that there will be many coming in with all the same idea that they will be waited on immediately. If you put off bringing in all your subscriptions until evening, you will have to take your turn and do a lot of waiting yourself and perhaps the campaign management will not find time to wait on you.

Just a Few More Hours. There are but a few more hours before the campaign will close. These last hours may be very valuable if you use them to the best advantage. Few people would refuse you a subscription if you go to those from whom there is a chance of getting a subscription. Or will you leave it for your more enterprising rival?

The Winners. If the counting of the votes goes off as expected, news of the winners will be announced by the judges Saturday night after the count is completed, and will also be published in tomorrow's issue of The Gazette. Immediately upon the closing of the campaign at 8 p. m., the committee selected by The Gazette will begin to count the votes which will decide the winners.

Bright Chinese Schoolboys.

China's advanced modern spirit permeates the schools. There is hardly a schoolboy at Chengtu, for instance, who is not acquainted with the outline of the history of the French revolution, and they have all followed the progress of nationalist ideals in Turkey, Persia, India and Egypt. A patriotic British teacher at Chengtu was pointing out with pride to his geography class the many red colored possessions of Great Britain, when he was stopped by shouts of "You stole them" from his class. In the propaganda of the revolutionary party, too, a poster depicting the swallowing of Egypt by Great Britain has played a prominent part.

Her Topic.

Uncle Jack, who was visiting them for the Christmas holidays from the west, wished to talk to Elizabeth's father at his office. He could not find the telephone directory and thus appealed to three-year-old Elizabeth for information regarding the "phone number." "Elizabeth, what does mother ask for when she talks to daddy at his office?" he inquired. Elizabeth was wise for her days. "Money," she replied.—Ladies Home Journal.

Forcing Plant Growth.

A German florist recently discovered an effective method to force plant growth. The high temperature required for this purpose was produced by hot water bottles. The pots containing the plants were inverted over the receptacle in which the water is heated. The leaves and branches are immersed, while the earth and roots remain dry. The inverted pots rest upon slats placed across the hot water bath. A syringe was subjected to this forcing process and bloomed beautifully five weeks later. Another plant, receiving the same treatment except for the bath, had not even started to flower. Matting or rugs are placed over the pots to retain the heat during the bathing process.

New Englander on Suffrage.

While in Richmond recently for the performance of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," Kate Douglas Wiggin was asked how she stood on the question of votes for women. Replying with a laugh that she didn't stand at all, she told about a New England farmer's wife who had no very romantic ideas about the opposite sex. "She was busy rying from churn to sink, from sink to shed, and back to the kitchen stove, when asked if she approved of woman's suffrage, and if she wished to vote. "No, I certainly do not," she exclaimed with a vigorous movement of the churn handle. "I say if there is any one little thing that the men folks can do alone, for goodness sake let 'em do it!"

Stump Speeches.

Andrew Carnegie was talking about the horrors of war. "Once, at the height of the American civil war," he said, "two men at a railway station saw a cartload of wooden logs depart for a military hospital. "Those wooden legs," said the first man, "are a rather eloquent protest against war, aren't they?" "Yes," agreed the other; "they are what you might call stump speeches."—Tit Bits.

WHAT'S THE MATTER, OLD FELLOW?
GOT A FROG IN MY THROAT?
TAKE SOME WATER—
YOU CAN'T DROWN OUT A FROG WITH WATER.

TRIALS OF WATERMELON LOVER.

They were seated around the table partaking of watermelon, so the talk naturally turned to the luscious fruit. "It reminds me of a conversation which took place between two colored women," said one of the guests. "Uma, but Ah certainly does love watermelons, said one. 'It sure does tickle mah palate. How does you like watermelons, Sister Liza?'"

"Wasn't Ah tell you, Sis Jane," returned the other. "Ah certainly does love watermelons, but I can't eat 'em."

"Well, that am too bad. What am de matter, Liza?"

"Well, that am like dis, Sis Jane. I lobes watermelons, but Ah always gets mah ears wet when Ah eats 'em."

Procedure:

Foreign Enemy—"Then you think it is useless for us to attack the country by way of New York city?"

Assistant—"Certainly. Our investigations tell us that it is impossible. First, we would have to pass a trained army of customs inspectors, and what was left of us would be swept away by a picked delegation of reporters asking us how we liked the country."

Fuck.

Feminine Applause.

"What on earth you keep clapping for? That last singer was awful!"

"I know, but I liked the style of her clothes, and I want to have another look at them."—London Opinion.

BREAKING IT GENTLY.

A lady who had recently moved to the suburbs was very fond of her first brood of chickens. Going out one afternoon, she left the household in charge of her eight-year-old boy. Before her return a thunderstorm came on. The youngster forgot the chicks during the storm, and was dismayed after it passed to find that half of them had been drowned. Though fearing the wrath to come, he thought best to make a clean breast of the calamity, rather than leave it to be discovered.

"Mamma," he said, contritely, when his mother had returned; "mamma, six of the chickens are dead."

"Dead!" cried the mother. "Six! How did they die?"

"The boy saw his chance."

"I think—I think they died happy," he said.

SHAKING AFTER TAKING.

There was a terrible noise coming from the dining room and the fond mother, alarmed, rushed swiftly in.

On the floor her son, aged ten, was going through all manner of contortions—somersaults, both backward and forward; bang, bang, he went.

"Willie—Willie," cried his mother, "what are you doing? You'll—"

For a moment Willie paused in his gymnastics.

"Oh, it's all right, mother," he gasped. "You see, I forgot to shake my medicine before taking it—like you always told me to do. So I thought I'd shake myself up, as the medicine was inside me!"—New York Globe.

Grabbing the Plums.

"Did ye notice, Pat, that Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhaus was in command of the fleet that President Taft reviewed in New York the other day?"

"Yes."

"And the secretary of the navy is a man he the name of Mayer?"

"Is he?"

"And Schulte got the automobile for him the best player in the National League?"

"Dinns, the furriners are breakin' in everywhere over here."

Somewhat Akin.

Lady (to author)—I'm a great admirer of your work, Mr. Stiles. I belong to a literary family, you know. My father publishes the local directory.—Judge.

Do You, Now?

Here's some lively news to see! "Cheaper gas for Chicago."

Evidently, from your pipe.

You don't know where that town is.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Gazette, Dec. 1, 1871. Snow has been falling since last evening.

Several of the "toney" young men are preparing to make New Year's calls. Use them kindly.

Dupont Albright went to Waupun yesterday in charge of John E. Brophy sentenced by Judge Conger for passing counterfeit money.

The state and county taxes are coming in slowly. Treasurer Carey having received only $8,820 of the $114,224 levied in the county. Spring Valley made returns on the 15th inst., being the first town to report to the treasurer. Of this levy $15,000 is for county purposes, a slight increase on the amount levied last year.

There will be a meeting of the citizens of Janesville, at the Young Men's Association hall over the post office, on the evening of December 26, at 7 o'clock, to hear the report in relation to the building of a railroad from this city to Evansville, and Afton and take into consideration the building of such road. An interesting report will be made of the work already done. The meeting will be of importance to those interested in the welfare of the city, and it is desired that every taxpayer be present.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

Marriage.

By Howard L. Rann.

Marriage is a state where the recall has not been adopted, although it is fast coming to it. They have the recall at Reno and Sioux Falls and also the ring, which amounts to the same thing. In the marriage ceremony the groom is expected to take the bride for better or for worse and the bride is expected to take the groom for a minute or two and when either one falls down there is coldness in the home. Some people achieve marriage and others have it forced upon them, while a still more numerous class chase it up against a half sofa and struggle it into submission. It is a pathetic sight to see a man, groomed up to the altar by a determined aspirant to the status of Gottschalk's "Last Tango," but this is the lot of many. Men purely court their wives with any considerable degree of enthusiasm after marriage. If they did, there would be less hauteur at the breakfast table. Some women would rather have a parting kiss at the front door than a cheek for a pattern hat, but it isn't always safe to gamble on it. We don't know which is more to be pitied—a woman who marries the drink habit or the man who marries an ornamental vacuum. If it is true that there is no marrying or giving in heaven, there is likely to be quite a demand for transfers on the part of wives who offered to substitute for the Koolhauser. When a girl marries for money, she is called an adventuress, but when a man marries a complexion and a set of false hair he is considered a lucky dog until the next term of court. Some of our happiest marriages are founded upon collateral consisting of a second-hand cookstove and an elm dresser, while the divorce docket is loaded up with the marital troubles of the idle rich. Poverty has its compensations.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher.

Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams

BY WALT MASON.

You are brooding, and eyed friend, o'er the griefs you must endure; you have troubles without end, you're neglected, you're poor, you must bear a heavy load, unassisted on your back, and you're weary of the road, and your liver's out of whack. And it all comes down to this, you with saddest heart, and you'll never sample bliss till you change your mode of thought. Think of others now and then when the tears run down your neck; in this great gray world of men you are but a little speck. On the way this planet races as it journeys through space, and your plucky little vessel is not worth a single speck. Think of others who feel like a martyr boiled in oil; think of others who conceal suffering beneath a smile. Think of men who bravely scrap all their lives without a whim, and you'll sicken of the chap who will murmur and repine. Think of some one you can aid, think of some one you can cheer, and the rough you wear will fade and you'll smile from ear to ear.

MY GOODNESS FOR GET WHAT SHE SAID NOW!

Dear Santa, please put our house on the list. I guess he got to sleep early. I'll bet he don't forget next year.

Skillful Work.

An expert workman in one of the great needle factories, in a test of skill, performed one of the most delicate feats imaginable. He took a common sewing needle of medium size, an inch and five-eighths in length, and drilled a hole through its entire length from eye to point.

THE WRATH OF GOD ALREADY UPON US

No Death Curse Resting Upon the Angels.

A New Interpretation Given to an Old Text Makes It Fit Well to Prevailing Conditions—Nevertheless, Says Pastor Russell, There Is "Wrath to Come," to Which We Should Take Heed.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 10.—Pastor Russell preached twice here today to large audiences. We report his discourse from the text, "The wrath of God is revealed against all unrighteousness of men." (Romans 1, 18.) The unreasoning teachings of our creeds have blinded our minds to such a degree that the expression, "wrath to come," carries with it to our deluded brains pictures such as Dante, Thomas a Kempis and others have conjured for our minds, and which became impressed upon us in infancy.

The Wrath Now Revealed.
The Bible tells what the wrath to come is. We will look at that in due time, but now let us look at our text, and at the wrath which it says is already revealed. If it is revealed, where is it and what is it?

We answer that the expression of God's wrath against sin is seen in the sentence of death against the sinner—"Dying, thou shalt die." This the Scriptures call the "curse." It has rested upon our race for six thousand years. It is visible to all, attested by the reign of sin and death. Do we not see depravity all about us, and do we not realize some of it in our own selves? Do we realize that our race is dying, mentally, morally and physically?

Do we realize that all this is the penalty of sin? Every place of crime, every funeral procession, every casket, every cemetery, every undertaker's sign, every physician's sign, all of our weaknesses testify that God's wrath is upon our race. Moreover, the earthquakes and pestilences, the drouth and floods, tell us that our earth is not in a perfect condition, suitable for perfect man. It testifies that there is a reason why our race is treated by our Creator as a race of convicts.

No Death Curse in Heaven.
Does anyone think that the wrath of God is thus revealed in heaven—that amongst the holy angels is imperfection, sin and death? Does anyone suppose that doctors or undertakers or cemeteries are there? Why not? The answer is simple. The wrath of God is not upon them, because they are not sinners—they have continued to abide in obedience to Him.

"Who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come," were John the Baptist's words to some of the Pharisees of his day. To what wrath did John refer? We answer that he was a Prophet, and was thus foretelling the time of trouble with which the Jewish Age ended, in A. D. 70. There is nothing whatever to indicate that he had made any reference to a wrath of God in the future, that would come upon his hearers after they were dead. On the contrary, the Scriptures everywhere teach that the dead are unconscious, that they can neither enjoy nor suffer anything, that they must wait for resurrection in the resurrection.

The Wrath to Come.

Our Lord also corroborated the words of John the Baptist and declared that the wrath of God upon that nation was high; His words were, "These be the days of vengeance upon this people, that all things written in the Law and the Prophets concerning them should be fulfilled" (Luke xxi, 22-23); also the Apostle Paul (1 Thessalonians ii, 16). Some of the things declared by the Lord in the Law and the Prophets were fulfilled in the destruction of Jerusalem, and in the trouble which came upon the Jews at that time. But other things written have had a grander fulfillment for now eight or nine hundred years; and not one jot or tittle can fail until all be fulfilled.

However, St. Paul (Colossians i, 6; Colossians iii, 6) mentions a coming time of Divine wrath; and Jesus urged His followers, saying, "Watch ye, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things coming upon the world, and to stand before the Son of Man." This intimates that the wrath here mentioned is to be world-wide, and in the end of this Age, even as the wrath upon the Jewish nation was nation-wide, in the end of their Age, God's People Should Keep Hands Off.

"This special wrath will be manifest in 'a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation.'" (Daniel xii, 1.) It will be specially upon those who fail to live up to the light and privilege which they enjoy. It will be upon all the selfish or covetous, and upon the unclean and upon those who unduly prize earthly things, wealth, honor, etc. God's people are warned, "Be ye not partakers with them," otherwise you will have no part or lot in the glorious Kingdom to which you have been called of God, as joint heirs with Jesus Christ, conditional upon your suffering with Him that you may also reign with Him.

Conscience.

The trouble with the still small voice is that it generally perverts itself to be still until there arises the danger of discovery.

Long Wire Span.
The span of telephone wire just placed across the bay is one of the longest anywhere in the state of Oregon. The wire runs from a pole near Captain Wellander's house to one about 100 feet high on south beach, and the distance from pole to pole is 2,500 feet, or nearly one-half mile. Its average height above the water is about 125 or 130 feet, and will clear the masts of any vessel coming in here at present.—Newport Signal.

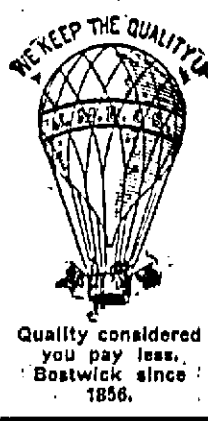

Society and Religion.
"Evidently it is not of real and given society that we are speaking when we explain by the action of society the religious attributes of the human soul. It is of ideal society, of society in so far as it strives after that, that justice, that happiness, that truth, that superior harmony, of which religion is the expression."—E. Boutroux.
